It's queer what the average human will do under the stress of emotion or just by accident.

For instance there is the 18-year-old chap who swam the famous whirlpool just below Niagara Falls without quite meaning to do so.

He accomplished this remarkable feat without "training" without axle grease or goggles or preliminary ballyhoo.

He just fell into the rapids and found himself in the hazardous position of having to swim out or enter the happy hunting grounds.

He probably couldn't have done it if he had started out for a stunt or record.

Then there's the story of the woman in the San Francisco fire.

While terror and havoc whirled about her, she calmly collected her most precious possession, the goldfish, and set out for safety.

She was making pretty good time in her flight and frequently became exhausted.

When she reached this stage, she would seat herself on a convenient curb and take a hearty swig from the goldfish bowl.

Of course she was calm, cool and collected, but one seldom sees a respectable dowager drinking from her own aquarium.

And she was being extremely inconsiderate to her pets.

Food-Poisoning Hits 22, Probe Ordered by M. D.

PACIFIC GROVE, July 24.—Eighteen girls were under treatment, near here. Nine was in serious condition.

Investigation failed to show what food caused the illness, and Dr. R. M. Porter, Monterey county health officer, ordered laboratory analysis of food served in the camp over the weekend.

SAN MATEO, July 24.—UP—Four persons were in serious condition in San Mateo hospital tonight, victims of food poisoning. They became ill after a picnic. Condition of Harry Mellicker, 31, of Daly City, was said to be critical. The other victims were Mrs. Frieda Mellicker, 31, their son, Harvey, 9, and Mrs. Leona Meyer, 42, San Francisco.

Financial Situation Is Better

NEW YORK, July 24.—Operating under limited trading hours and other restrictions, financial markets were stronger and more orderly today.

Although more weak margin accounts were needed out on the stock exchange, short covering was sufficient to raise the prices of all leading shares, gains at the close ranging from one to five points.

Stocks that took the worst beating in the convulsive selling waves last week, rallied the sharpest.

Wets Lead
The "wet" group was in prominent demand, with National Distillers closing ten points higher at 78, United States Industrial Alcohol up 7 at 53 1/2, and American Commercial Alcohol at 42 up 3 1/2.

The market, which opened at noon instead of the normal 10 a. m., started somewhat hesitantly, but the majority of stocks were higher. Toward the close all issues bobbed upward. The incentive to cover short commitments received impetus from renewed weakness in the dollar.

Wheat Goes Up
Grain prices were steady on the Chicago Board of Trade, where price fluctuation limits were set on all cereals. Wheat moved up a cent. The market was not affected by the suspension of E. A. Crawford, big wheat plunger.

Roosevelt In Appeal To Nation

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The nation's bold attempt to lift purchasing power overnight by one great, patriotic impulse was inaugurated formally tonight when President Roosevelt appealed to industry to adopt uniform shorter hours and higher wages.

The chief executive's magnetic voice set off a chorus of pleas that will resound from platform and pulpit, street corner and auditorium, press and radio in an organized network created by General Hugh S. Johnson, National Recovery administrator.

Support Promised
The President's appeal coincided with great activity on all fronts here today formulate completed industrial codes which will supplant the temporary uniform agreement as they are drafted and approved.

Overshadowing the numerous hearings was that on the oil industry which embraces every problem imaginable. Denoting a determination to do this complicated job as quickly as possible, Johnson ordered day and night sessions as the hearings began.

As the oil industry discussed its problems, the lumber industry found itself in a controversy. Large west coast units attacked the industry's proposed code criticizing wages as too low, its hours as too long, and provisions for price fixing and control of production as unenforceable and of no avail.

Lumbermen On Guard
The southern section of the industry was singled out for particular fire by William Denman, Coos Bay Lumber company, Oregon, who said it dominated politics and economic life in the south and kept its labor on low wages while "watering" its investment in timber. Representatives of the southern industry retaliated warmly.

The wool manufacturing industry hearing hardly had begun today when labor attacked its $12 and $14 minimum weekly wage for south and north respectively, as too low. Labor representatives demanded $18 week instead of the forty-hour week in the suggested code.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Jennings

Rev. A. J. Case of the Wesley Methodist church gave the eulogy yesterday afternoon for the late Mrs. Louisa Maude Jennings. The rites took place from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel and included two solos, "The End of a Perfect Day" and "Beyond the Isle of Somewhere" by Mrs. W. P. Cooper. Pallbearers were: W. P. Cooper, S. S. Ripley, George Imbach, George Beugley, John Miller and Jed Lee.

Field House in City Park Will Be Constructed

The "field house" for Nichol park, that was made possible through the generosity of Mrs. Mary Nichol Kreuer, daughter of the late John Nichol, will be constructed at once.

This was determined by the city council last evening when the report of the building committee, scaling down the original plans was adopted and contracts for the work were awarded at a combine price of $4,556.10.

The bids on the original plans, submitted a week ago, totaled $7,320, but at that time the council did not feel it had the money to go ahead with the work, and the matter went to the building committee for one week.

Two Units
Units A and C of the structure, which will contain rest rooms for women, children and men, and also showers, are provided for in the contracts awarded last evening.

The contract for general construction went to Tandy and Thies at a figure of $3,710.60. The original bid for this work was $1,550. The plumbing contract went to the Richmond Plumbing company for $1,245.50. Its original bid was $1,687.50.

Revise Plans
The building committee composed of S. S. Ripley (chairman), Mattie Chandler, and George P. Imbach, together with Building Inspector A. J. Hurley and City Manager J. A. McVittie, spent several days in revising the plans, so that the total cost would come within the $5,000 that had been presented to the city for the work.

The heating system, was eliminated entirely, which reduced the cost $951. The number of showers were reduced from 22 to 6, two toilets, four basins and two urinals were also omitted.

There was a scaling down of $824.00 on the general construction work and $142 on the plumbing. Councilman Mattie Chandler, thanked the building inspector and the city manager for their valuable assistance in bringing the work down to a cost where the city could proceed with it.

Bay Fails to Return Victim

Extensive dragging of the bay shore waters yesterday failed to disclose the body of Shiyogi Tushida, 19, Oakland Japanese youth, who was believed drowned Sunday off Kozu Cove. Tushida went in swimming while three friends fished off the rocks. He failed to return and his discarded clothes were found on the beach. He was said to be subject to sudden cramps while swimming, according to his companions.

Film Land Gagged By Walk Out

HOLLYWOOD, July 24.—UP—Government intervention in the tangled affairs of the motion picture industry was anticipated tonight when union workers served notice of a general strike, effective at midnight.

Starting with a walkout of sound technicians, the strike of union men in other lines was ordered when producers advertised for substitute sound men, whether union members or not.

Richard J. Green, who called the strike as representative of virtually all screen employees except actors and executives, expressed candid hope that the federal administration would step in to the breach.

Studios Tied Up
A walkout of the film city's 4,300 technicians, laboratory workers, cameramen, studio projectionists, carpenters, property men, electricians and other would effectively halt all production activities, studio spokesmen admitted.

Although the sound strike went into effect at midnight Saturday, studios attempted to keep their production crews active today by making silent and "process" shots, which do not require sound at the time of filming. Even this will stop if cameramen and electricians are unavailable.

Green emphasized that the general strike was not in sympathy with the soundmen but because "the studios had been proven to have violated their basic agreement with these workers."

Violate Agreement
Newspaper advertisements for sound technicians were generally regarded as the "violation" of the studios. Striking sound men, however, did not believe this move would help the studios maintain production.

Store Thief to Serve 6 Months

MARTINEZ, July 24.—Convicted of petit theft, Pearl McMahon, 32, of Richmond, was brought to the county jail here today to serve a sentence of six months. The term was imposed by Police Judge C. A. Odell of Richmond for the theft of $34 from a Richmond cigar store.

Grief Stricken Wife Of Millionaire Asks Mercy Of Kidnapers

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 24.—UP—The grief-stricken wife of Charles F. Urschel tonight asked mercy for some word from the kidnapers who hold the multi-millionaire oil man.

All officers were withdrawn at the request of Mrs. Urschel, who emphasized she was not interested in capture or prosecution of the gangsters. That her only concern was for the safe return of her 17-year-old, tall, handsome husband.

Arrangements were made to deal confidentially with kidnapers from whom no word has come since Urschel and Walter R. Jarrett, also a wealthy oil man, were seized by two men armed with machine guns, while playing bridge at the Urschel home late Saturday night.

Jarrett was released shortly after the abduction.

Police Silent
Meanwhile the Department of Justice, withdrawn from the home, gave no hint of its activities in the search for the kidnapers or one of the wealthiest oil men in America. At Washington it was announced the department had dispatched additional agents here.

This activity, however, was entirely apart from the objectives of the family, whose members huddled about a telephone tonight anxiously waiting for some news.

The family, through E. E. Kirkpatrick, personal friend and business associate of Urschel, declared no word had been received from the bandits.

In a direct appeal to the kidnapers, Mrs. Urschel late today authorized the Oklahoma News to publish the following, in full:

Makes Appeal
"I am in no way interested in your capture or prosecution. I care only for the safe return of my husband. To facilitate this, I have had police withdrawn from my house (Continued on page 8)

Two Lodges Meet For Installation Of New Officials

Before a large audience of members and guests from councils and tribes throughout Contra Costa and Alameda counties, chiefs of Oneida tribe, Redmen and Onetah council, Powahontas, were raised to their new offices last evening.

The ceremonies for the tribe were conducted by the district deputy, Ed Wynn of Crockett and his staff, Mrs. Rita Bettencourt of Oakland and her group of officers installed for the council.

The Redmen's hall was charmingly decorated with foliage and flowers and the installation rites took place in an attractive setting.

At the close of the evening all adjourned to the banquet room where delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Jakobson, Mrs. Ruby Hodson, and Mrs. Julia Maskal.

All of England Rejoices Over Escape of "Flying Mollisons"

LONDON, July 24.—UP—All of Great Britain was happy today that Jim and Amy Mollison had completed their flight to America, and there were many expressions of sympathy for their misfortune in crashing when almost at New York. The general reaction was that they had made a splendid flight and news that they were not injured seriously on landing was received joyfully.

Amy's parents were shocked but happy that the crash did not cause greater injuries to the couple. "We're thankful to hear they safely crossed the Atlantic," Amy's mother said. "The bad luck in landing is disappointing but I think both had a marvelous escape."

"It probably will be impossible to repair the Seafarer," said Captain Courtenay, Mollison's manager. "Sending new parts would take too long. But they did a fine piece of navigation, being only one degree north of their route when they struck Newfoundland."

In a telephone interview with the Evening News, Amy said: "I am terribly afraid the Seafarer is beyond repair. It was an unpleasant experience and bitterly disappointing, but, thank God, Jim's injuries are only slight. We really got out of it quite well as we would never have reached New York on the fuel we had left."

Mollisons Taken To New York

FLOYD BENNETT FIELD, New York, July 24.—UP—Jim and Amy Mollison ended their long transatlantic flight from Wales to the United States at 6:10 p. m. EDT, tonight when they reached Floyd Bennett field as passengers in an amphibian plane.

Their own ship, the black and orange "Seafarer," was wrecked last night in a swamp at Longport, Conn. With Jim's face and head heavily bandaged, they came to New York with Ralph Wickford at the controls of another plane.

Four other planes escorted the Mollisons to Floyd Bennett field, one of them piloted by America's aerial speed king, Frank Hawks.

10,000 CHEER
The big Sikorsky came down from the north across Jamaica bay, where the seaplanes of General Hato Balbo's fleet are at anchorage. It swept up the long concrete runway while 10,000 persons cheered, throwing their hats into the air.

Motorcycle police flanked the big plane as it trundled up the runway. It reached a halt, and Jimmie Mollison, smiling through a mass of bandages, popped out carrying bag (Continued on page 8)

Pelly to be Local Officer At C. C. Meet

ANGELO PELLY, president of Point Richmond aerie of Eagles, will represent the local group at the Martinez meeting tomorrow evening of Contra Costa council of Eagles.

Initiation ceremonies will be put on by officers chosen from each aerie in the county whose members are expected to attend in large numbers.

The meeting will be conducted by President Thomas Draper of the Martinez aerie and will be preceded by a parade through the main thoroughfare headed by the members of the Point Richmond aerie drum corps under the direction of Andrew L. Anfibollo. Among the candidates to be initiated will be found many holding high positions in the county.

She charged cruelty and was represented by Attorney Francis P. Healy.

FEAR FELT FOR SAFETY OF OTHER CHILDREN

SAN DIEGO, July 24.—UP—Recovery of the mutilated body of seven-year-old Daibert Aposhian from San Diego bay today disclosed one of the most diabolical crimes in the city's history.

A navy searching party found the body after a week's search, in which police and boy scouts also participated.

The boy's ears had been severed, his eyes gouged and his tongue slit by the slayer, who then apparently had choked him to death.

Governess Missing
The slaying, climaxing a series of unsolved "torture murders" here, was complicated by a police search for another missing person, Mrs. Pearl Royal, a governess. Hunt for the fiend slayer of young Aposhian was redoubled through fear that he might claim other victims.

The governess left the home of her employer, City Attorney C. L. Byers, Friday night to attend a nearby theater and has been missing since. Byers said he feared foul play.

Girl Found
Apprehension over a missing fourteen-year-old girl, Marjorie Dixie Durfee, of Tonopah, Nev., was allayed when she appeared at the police station late today.

She had failed to meet relatives at the bus station and had searched for them several days.

A bloodstained towel and pillow case, found in a hastily vacated room, were the lone clues to the Aposhian slaying. Attendants said a "Horace Patterson" rented the room last Tuesday, the day Daibert disappeared. He left this morning.

Three men were arrested for questioning in a roundup of police characters, and authorities said others would be taken into custody during the investigation.

Was on Errand
Young Aposhian, son of George Aposhian, clothing store owner, vanished while running an errand for his mother. No one saw him after leaving his house.

Public anger, which reached a high pitch when previous violent deaths were discovered, was aroused as news of the Aposhian slaying spread.

The first mysterious slaying was that of Virginia Brooks, 12, whose slayer placed her body in a gunny sack and hid it on an outlying mesa, where it was found several weeks later.

Other Killings
While officers were seeking the killer, the unclad body of Louise Tauber, 17, a store clerk, was found hanging from a tree in a canyon. Several persons were arrested in connection with the cases but later released.

Even Pooch Must Pay Tax on Cash

SALEM, Ore., July 24.—UP—Spike, the Astoria dog must pay an inheritance tax of $11.56 on the $1,000 legacy left him by his late master, Louis Wiggan. A special mortality table had to be drafted by the state tax commission to apply to his inheritance, since a dog's span of life had not been charged. The inheritance tax division fixed his life at 12 years and valued his tax accordingly. Spike gets $10 a month from his inheritance as long as he lives.

Three Local Net Stars Get Title

Little Joe Hutchinson earned a new moniker Sunday. They dubbed him the "Iron Man" and incidentally he is from Pittsburg and works in the steel mill. The "they" referred to were some fifty odd tennis fans, players and enthusiasts who gathered this Sunday to watch the semifinals and the finals of the Contra Costa Closed County Tennis Championships—and he was either a quarter or a half of almost everything they watched.

After wearing out Jules Accardi of Richmond in a duce set and losing it to take the next 6-0, he joined forces with Betty Wales, also of Pittsburg, to eliminate Henry Sermuks and Helen Guyott of Crockett from the mixed doubles which placed him in the finals of these two events. This was Saturday afternoon.

On Sunday he started the day winning the mens singles championship by defeating Herschel Hyde in straight sets 6-3, 6-2, 6-1. Not content with the glory he had already

MARKET CLUB
BEATS MOVERS
IN FAST TILT

The Palace Meet Market team stepped out Sunday and smacked down the Macey Movers of Oakland by the score of 8 to 4.

The Oakland gang got all their runs in the first canto, collecting four hits off LeGault.

From then on they had to be satisfied with two hits and no runs. LeGault pitched a good game, strifling out 12 men. He also collected three hits for himself in three trips to the plate.

Bill Carr did some hitting, too. He cracked out four safeties in five times up. Each time he drove in some runs.

WAR CRY IS PUT ON SPOT
IN BIG RACE

Does War Cry, William Burnett's "wonder dog" ever have an off night? This question comes up tonight for settlement at El Cerrito Kennel club track, where a large crowd is anticipated for the special five-day match race.

War Cry set a track record of 29 4-5 seconds in Friday's match and tonight meets a classy field in Sylvia's King of Mrs. S. E. Ellis' kennel, Clay Center, Harry Mamos and Wolf Larson. Many believe War Cry unbeatable over the futurity, but it's a treat to watch the champ run, and there is always the chance that he will get off poorly.

Secondary prizes had the El Cerrito fans literary on the ropes Monday night with Master Brindle $13 second and third options each. Shy Wolf $11.60 second, Nefandus $19.40 and Timber Queen $14.00. The place shots held even with preferred for those who took 'em that way.

Twenty schoolings for Eastern dogs are scheduled before tonight's races.

Speaking Of Sports

NEW YORK, July 24.—UP—New York boxing fans are awaiting with no little interest the start of a new indoor season. Jas there are "new deals" in many other things, so is there one in the boxing situation in Gotham.

No one would have been believed if he had prophesied one year ago the drastic changes which have taken place. For one thing there is a new heavyweight champion, a large Italian by the name of Primo Carnera. Then there's a new building hand at Madison Square Garden, probably the world's boxing capital. Col. John Reed Kilpatrick has succeeded William Francis Carey as president.

Of the boxing commission which was headed a year ago by the dynamic James A. Farley, only one member remains. He is Gen. John Phelan, who succeeded Farley as chairman. William Muldoon is dead. His place has been filled by William J. (Bill) Brown. A third commission member yet is to be chosen.

Jack Sharkey has passed from the championship picture, a victim of Carnera's mighty right uppercut. Maxie Adelbert Baer, the inconsistent one from the West Coast, has succeeded Max Schmeling as challenger to the throne. Schmeling still is a headliner—or will be when he fights again—but it's none too probable that he will be another shot at the crown he won sitting down and lost on a rank decision. Sharkey is toying with the idea of fighting "frequently and often" this fall and winter, but he may decide to devote his energies to the hydrant bushes near his Chestnut Hill (Mass.) estate, and hunting.

All the principals of this summer's chief show have been involved in affairs of the heart during the past few weeks. Jack Dempsey, the promoter has married the "cheerful little cat" Hannah Williams. Schmeling has married Anna Andra, a little blonde Czechoslovakian film comedienne; Baer who romanced with lovely June Knight, while his wife, Dorothy Dunbar, sought a divorce has kissed and made up with Dorothy.

KNOW YOUR BUSINESS FIRMS
Perasso Bros. Co.
Give Real Service

Every city of refinement and progressiveness cannot hope to prosper without adopting the proper sanitary methods, and of course when we say city we mean the individual person who is a resident of that city.

Richmond is no exception in this case and our methods of sanitation as is offered by the excellent garbage service of Perasso Bros., and Company whose offices are located at 33 Fifteenth street, phone Richmond 358, is a firm who are contributing much toward better conditions.

If it were not for such firms as Perasso Bros., and Company, we as individuals would be forced to put up with unhealthy conditions a condition that would be a menace to life and property. Perasso Bros., and Company since they started their business have been efficient in their service so as to make their work quick and dependable. Their equipment represents considerable money, and is built and adapted for only their lines of business. Then again this firm employ a number of local men who are trained to serve the people of Richmond.

There is absolutely no need of not having the proper garbage service, if you are not getting it, at the proper cost, then use your telephone and call Richmond 358, tell them you want their service at once. Perasso Bros. and Company are indeed rendering a valuable service to our city.

STATE BODIES ADOPT CODES FOR INDUSTRY

SACRAMENTO, July 24.—Associations and organizations representing the various branches of the building trades today are formulating codes to govern the industry under the Federal Recovery Act, following a meeting of leaders of the industry here.

Regional codes will be drafted for each branch of the industry. It was decided at the conference, varying as local conditions require. One organization, the Associated General Contractors, has already filed a proposed code of ethics, governing wages, hours, and bidding, in Washington.

Other associations planning to draft such governing measures, are the California State Builders Exchange, the Master Plumbers and the Master Plasterers Associations.

Colonel Carlos W. Huntington, state registrar of contractors, who sponsored the meeting, pledged the cooperation of his department in aiding the industry to formulate suitable codes.

He said a skeleton code form will be drafted for the purpose of aiding the various groups in the industry in the undertaking.

He warned those at the meeting that failure to form a proposed code to govern the construction business might result in General Hugh Johnson invoking a code regulating the industry and prescribing license fees.

Here's the Story Of Film World's Perfect Romance

ARTICLE II
By ALANSON EDWARDS
HOLLYWOOD, July 24.—Pickfair, the $100,000 mansion where screen land first went high hat, is for sale. It was built a dozen years ago for the perpetual honeymoon of Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford. Mary lives there alone now, waiting for someone to come along and buy it.

With Fairbanks in Europe and their divorce in the offing, "America's Sweetheart" smiles through the tears in realization that even the best of things must end—just as did her "perfect romance" with the agile movie hero.

Pickfair was built soon after Mary and Doug, an idyllic pair of newlyweds, returned from their famous honeymoon to the Painted Desert in 1920. It was not a pretentious home at the start, but as their social responsibilities grew the house grew apace.

The name Pickfair was given it by a Hollywood wag. It stuck, although Doug didn't like it and laughingly threatened to horsewhip the author—if he could find him. Marriage did not alter the almost childlike devotion of Fairbanks and his film queen bride. For six years they dined together every night. For ten years they hardly were separated.

Doug joined the Masons in the sixth year of the great romance. The initiation required him to be at the lodge rooms for dinner. Mary hoped all day and couldn't touch her food.

While Pickfair was abiding, the master and mistress were busy with the professional fortunes. Both had long cherished a desire to form their own producing companies. The widely publicized marriage offered an opportunity to leap into the fickle whirlpool of motion picture financing.

Charlie Chaplin and Gloria Swanson came in with them and United Artist Corporation was organized. Of all the great stars, who have left lucrative contracts to make their own pictures, the United Artists four were among the very, very few who succeeded.

Possibly this very love of their work, and the heavy income of success, made them succeed all the more. Both made the kind of pictures they always had wanted to make. Mary produced "Annie Rooney," "Daddy Long Legs" and other of the sweet girl type that made her the most famous actress in Hollywood's history.

Doug concentrated on "epic" pictures that never have been equalled in scope and imagination. "Robin Hood," "The Thief of Bagdad," "The Black Pirate" and "The Gunga" were a few.

But making movies is only the start, as the lovers soon learned. Once a picture is finished it must be exhibited if it is to return a profit. To do this, the big companies had world-wide organizations. Mary and Doug had to build their own, and they had many heartaches.

In their happiness, they laughed at each other. Every free moment Doug spent on Mary's set. He couldn't take his eyes from her. Like a boy, he would stand on one foot and grin at the winsome girl in curls, who bestowed on him her most dazzling smiles. He would back off the set, still grinning. Usually he stumbled over something.

Love scenes mean no more to actors than fist fights scenes—both are harmless. But Mary and Doug didn't feel that way. Their love was different, and a lot stronger.

In Mary's pictures there was little kissing. They were not that type. Doug, though, was called upon for many a passionate embrace with his various leading women, such as Billy Dove and Marguerite de la Motte.

These clinging embraces, the "hot ones" always were made on Sundays. That was Mary's free day. The pictures always showed Doug doing his stuff while the leading lady turned her back to the camera.

Because the leading lady, in those scenes, was Mary Pickford.

Hunk-A-Dory Store Fine For Shoppers

Richmond has a great number of Grocery Stores and Markets for the convenience of its shoppers, and yet there are a certain number of stores who seem to be getting a larger increasing list of new customers each day and week, and therefore there must be good reasons for their progressiveness.

The Hunk-A-Dory Cash Food Store, which is located at San Pablo and Nevin avenue, here in Richmond is one of those stores which is rapidly becoming known as a good place to shop and do your trading at all times, not only when certain specials are advertised on certain days, but their prices on standard advertised brands of food commodities can be depended upon for high quality at prevailing low prices. The Hunk-A-Dory is owned and managed by a local man, Alfred E. Weston, and this store has become known as a friendly shopping center.

Today, more than ever before, women are seeking better and more values for their money. Times in general are getting better, but yet the thrifty housewife wants to trade at a place where she has the choice of a large selection at prices that are in keeping with today's wages. The Hunk-A-Dory Cash Food Store truly meets this need of the shopper.

At the Hunk-A-Dory Cash Food Store your shopping can be done in Groceries, Fresh Vegetables and the finest in all lines of cured and fresh meats, and the many extra specials are not simply leaders to get your trade, but honest values in every day bargains at the lowest possible prices.

Here is another item that makes this store a good place to shop. It is so located that you can drive right to the door, park your car out of traffic jams, have your order filled by a neat affable clerk, and have it placed in your car. Weston has spared no money and expense in giving the public the highest type of food store, and to give our shoppers honest values at today's prices, when you want the best at all times remember Hunk-A-Dory Cash Food Store at San Pablo and Nevin Avenue.

Pinole Man Is K. of C. Leader

Thomas A. Smith of Pinole was formally elected last evening as grand knight of Contra Costa council, Knights of Columbus.

E. H. Woodfield, district deputy, was in charge of the ceremonies. Other new officers are: William M. Luiz, deputy grand knight; Michael Dowling, warden; S. R. McGarh, advocate; John LaFus, inside guard; Robert Donald outside guard; A. J. Zehrer, trustee.

Following the meeting which took place in Memorial hall, a banquet was served. There was a full attendance of members and also guests from other councils.

Odd Fellows Win Over M. W. Tossers

The Richmond Odd Fellows took Monticery Ward into camp Sunday by a score of 13 to 7.

Lefty Perricone star chucker of the lodge club was working in great fashion.

The southpaw fanned 12 of the batters to face him and collected a single for himself. Shinnick, Odd Fellows second sacker, knocked the only home run of the day. The game was played at Seawright Field.

Witness Tangles His Testimony at Cult Death Trial

MARTINEZ, July 24.—UP—Contradicting testimony and the nervousness of a high official of Dunsmuir, Philippine lodge, featured the trial today of seven Spaniards charged with the "dying burial" of Mrs. Cecilia Novarro.

S. A. Sanga, grand master of the lodge, gave testimony which conflicted with that of two other defense witnesses. He also contradicted himself while being cross-examined.

He testified that Pablo Bustamante, chief state informer, confessed choking Mrs. Novarro until she died. That was the first he knew of Bustamante's connection with the asserted slaying he said.

Under cross-examination, he admitted Mrs. Leticia Valencia and Mrs. L. Irayon, wife of the grand secretary of the lodge, told him they knew Bustamante was responsible for Mrs. Novarro's death.

Becoming confused, he said the women gave him his first information regarding Bustamante. Earlier in the day, the women testified, saying they had told nobody about Bustamante's part in

Business Men to Select Secretary

PITTSBURG, July 24.—Selection of a secretary and standing committee chairman was being considered today by newly elected officials of the Pittsburg Business Men's Association.

Joseph J. Aiello, who was named to succeed E. R. Linscheid as president, will be assisted during the coming year by Arnold Linscheid, vice president, and an executive committee which includes: Camillo Yanzafame, H. C. Chapin, George E. Miller, W. G. Buchanan, A. V. McFaul, Frank Lucido, A. J. Nozich, S. V. Cardinalli.

The case until they visited the defense attorney, Wilbur Pierce. Their testimony was in conflict with Sanga's.

Sunga said Bustamante told him he choked Mrs. Novarro "to scare her, but she died."

Bustamante, whose information to authorities disclosed details of the weird cult trial and burial, insists he had no direct connection with the slaying.

He said he told authorities about the case because he feared a similar fate would overtake him after he quarreled with members of the lodge.

OAKLAND MAN GANG VICTIM

SAN JOSE, July 24.—Victim of what authorities believe was a beating at the hands of a gang, George Floyel, 330 Linden street, Oakland, was found lying unconscious on the highway near Milpitas today.

His skull was fractured and his body was a mass of bruises.

At the county hospital, where Floyel remains in a state of unconsciousness, physicians said he has but a slight chance of recovery.

Sheriff's deputies said that the nature of his injuries indicated that he was slugged and buried from an automobile, apparently by a gang of men.

Authorities were notified by motorists that a "dead man" was lying on the highway. They went to Milpitas and found Floyel at the roadside.

LOW FIRST PAYMENT... NOTHING MORE TILL OCT. 1

THIS Summer with thoughts of vacation is the best time to plan a real vacation from heating worries during the Fall and Winter ahead. Thousands of people are doing this THIS MONTH—saving money, avoiding disappointments that are so likely to occur during the Fall rush for gas heating installations.

Natural Gas heating brings a new freedom and enjoyment of living. Gas is the least expensive to install of all heating equipment giving the convenience of controlled heat. With it, too, comes many advantages that belong alone to the finest heating fuel known. There is no fuel to store away and you pay for gas fuel only after using it. It gives silent, carefree, clean heating—instantly available when needed.

Many home owners do not know that gas heated homes enjoy a special gas rate. It is a quantity-use rate that applies 12 months a year—to all gas burned for cooking, water heating, etc., as well as house heating. This is one reason why gas heating for all the advantages it brings is so moderate in cost.

There is no need to wait. Take advantage of the Special Discount Prices and easy purchase terms that apply on all types of gas heating equipment this month. This company or your local dealer are ready to help you.

Governors Are Having Gay Of Time With Jim

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24.—UP.—Pursuing a full program that has included almost everything except a business session, chief executives of states in all sections of the nation converged here today for a continuation of the 25th annual governor convention.

After nearly two days of activity in the vicinity of Lake Tahoe, Truckee and Sacramento, they moved into San Francisco for an intensive series of banquets, meetings, sight-seeing trips and social affairs.

Their arrival here was marked by a noon celebration characteristic of San Francisco's usual method of greeting prominent persons.

Noisy Welcome
The ferryboat which carried them across the bay from Oakland was accompanied by a fireboat giving a lavish display of streaming water. Harbor craft sirens and the droning motors of airplanes added to the din.

An automobile caravan paraded the governors up market street, which was heavily decorated for the occasion.

Each governor rode in an automobile bearing his name.

A military escort led the way to the Palace hotel, where a private banquet started the official San Francisco program.

Big Program
Later, an escort of civil military and national organizations was formed to take the governors and their parties to the memorial opera house, where a special program was arranged in honor of the executives.

One of the busiest days of the conference faced the governors tomorrow. An early meeting at the Presidio to honor Secretary of War George H. Dern will be followed by an official welcome to San Francisco and the beginning of the first conference business session.

A luncheon, continuation of the business meeting, reception and night banquet and meeting will complete the day's program.

Going To Los Angeles
Additional business sessions will be held Wednesday and the governors will be free to do what they please that evening until they leave at midnight for Yosemite National Park.

Their week-long conference will be concluded in Los Angeles Saturday.

Cripple Held on Slaying Charges

OAKLAND, July 24.—Lour's Alotto, 69, crippled basket-maker was under observation tonight after he assertedly killed Frank Marica, 37, hotel proprietor, and wounded Reno Marica, 35, brother of Frank.

Authorities believed Alotto suffered a fit of insanity while the Marica brothers were carrying him up the steps of their hotel. He wiped out a knife and started slashing them.

Crockett Home Sale Reported by Owner

CROCKETT, July 24.—Postmaster and Mrs. W. M. Laidlaw have announced the sale of their palatial home on Baldwin avenue to Mrs. Nellie Donohue of Port Costa, who will take possession on August 1.

KNOW YOUR BUSINESS FIRMS

Individuality At Good Beauty Shop

In this column of "Know Your Business Firms" we have pointed out the advantages of dealing with this and that firm, and it has served the purpose of guiding both men and women shoppers to those places which offer individual personal service in their respective lines.

We know that women especially are natural born shoppers and are always looking for those places which not only give the best of service but who also offer high class work at reasonable prices.

We feel therefore that our women readers will be interested to know of the services as offered by the Eva-Elizabeth Beauty Shop which is located at 344 San Pablo Ave., El Cerrito. Phone Thornwall 4244.

The Eva-Elizabeth Beauty Shop is really all the name implies, they do follow all the latest fashions when it comes to everything in beauty shop work, and this shop not only caters to women in their own immediate district of El Cerrito, but many women from Richmond make weekly visits to it, because they have found that here is a shop that gives them that personal touch for even less money than is offered in other shops.

Let us illustrate by giving a brief price list. They feature the Combination Ritzlette and Natural Permanent Wave for $3.00. The Ritzlette for $1.95 and the well known Natural Permanent wave for $3.95, and these two distinctive methods are considered the best in first class beauty shops. In this shop all the work is absolutely guaranteed against burns and frizz, which often occurs in beauty shops whose work is not guaranteed. Now here is another point that should interest our women readers. Haircuts are given here to suit each and every individual style and type, and are given by an expert whose one desire is to render individual taste.

Now here is the program. Visit the Eva-Elizabeth Beauty Shop at 344 San Pablo Ave., El Cerrito, let Elizabeth Johnson, the proprietress, explain her direct methods of beauty work to you, let her show you examples of what expert work does for each individual person at prices that we know cannot be duplicated in this district. To save time and effort, just phone Thornwall 4244 for an appointment. We feel sure that this program will not only please you but save you money.

Salary Rebate Said "Illegal"

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24.—UP.—Attorney General U. S. Webb today declared unconstitutional the practice of several cities and organizations that have required rebates in wages of public project workers.

State Controller Ray Riley told Webb the cities of Ontario and Eupland and the Cucamonga Basin association had been requiring workers to sign agreements to return part of their wages received on public works.

Webb held the practice illegal.

Shoes Cost Man $25 Fine in Court

MARTINEZ, July 24.—An ordinary pair of shoes today had cost Sam Ashford $25.

Ashford, a seaman aboard a tanker moored at a local dock, was accused of walking out of a Martinez store without paying for a new pair of shoes and also with threatening the proprietor.

Deputy Sheriff Ernest Lancaster found Ashford in a restaurant nearby and arrested him for disturbing the peace.

Justice of the Peace A. B. Wilson imposed the fine and also placed the seaman under a six months' suspended sentence.

Jimmy Durante Faces Charges

NAPA, July 24.—UP.—James Durante, described by police as Jimmy (Schmozzle) Durante of Hollywood fame, was arrested near here Saturday night, charged with "cutting in" on the highway. It was revealed today.

Two traffic officers who arrested him said he "cut them out" on the highway, then addressed them abusively when they cited him. He was ordered to appear in court here July 31.

The officers quoted him as saying he was "with M. G. M. studios" and gave his address as 46 Rose avenue, Venice, Cal. A woman, whose name was not learned, was with him, the officers said.

Presbyterian Merger Planned

SAN JOSE, July 24.—UP.—A proposed merger of the United Presbyterian and the Presbyterian churches was discussed today during the California synod meeting of the Presbyterian order.

Report of the proposed merger was presented by Rev. John Wish-

STATE REPEAL BODY CONVENES

SACRAMENTO, July 24.—Twenty-two men and women, selected at the June 27 election by 1,691,815 votes formally to notify Washington, D. C. that California wants the Eighteenth Amendment repealed gathered in convention here today for that purpose.

The delegates were summoned to the state capitol by Secretary of State Frank S. Jordan after he had notified to the large repeal vote.

The secretary of state will open the convention and then turn it over to the delegates who will name temporary officers, receive the oath of office, organize their convention forces with the installation of permanent officers and then proceed with the routine of putting the repeal vote, as prescribed by law.

The convention was being held in the Senate chamber. Senators who have several days of work on their calendar gave up their seats to the delegates for the approximate two hours required to go through the formalities.

Certified copies of the vote cast by electors June 27 and of the convention proceedings will be sent to Washington officials by Governor Ralph and Jordan.

Court Contempt In Advisement

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24.—UP.—The district court of appeals today took under advisement applications for writs of habeas corpus entered by two Filipinos held in contempt of court at the cult murder trial in Martinez.

The petitioners, Pastore Santellan and Mrs. Eugenia Salles, were charged when they refused to testify in the trial of seven Filipinos accused of slaying Mrs. Cecelia Novarro. They claimed they might incriminate themselves by talking.

After hearing arguments on the applications, the court took the case under advisement.

Disease Lurks in Unusual Places, So Have a Care While Vacationing

BEFORE long thousands of people will be on the move in the process of "taking a vacation," even if the project means a great deal more work than they would do at home. There is bound to be less conscientiousness in the usual found in the most ordinary dwelling. But the search is on for a cheap place, but some of them prove in the end to be highly expensive. It is true there are many charming villages, small out-of-the-way places, where nature may attract and certain pastimes lure. Usually in these small places, the water supply is obtained from wells, whose source is somewhat indefinite. The cows which furnish the milk are not tested and the milk itself is uninspected. This is no criticism of the villagers themselves, many of whom are the best of home-makers.

SCIENTIFIC cleanliness can be had only by scientific methods and these are not afforded in the smaller localities. In these days of easy travel, infection and contagion have a thousand ways of being carried from one section to another. It is well known that typhoid is borne in impure milk and water. Those who are seeking secluded places may find themselves in the region of water ways where malaria lurks. When evenings grow foggy and chill, and the mosquitoes hum, it is unwise to persist in clinging to the idea of having a camp fire. One is much safer indoors with the windows closed and some sort of flooring underfoot.

THE United States Health Service is continuing to give extensive research to the spotted fever, sometimes called black measles, and Rocky Mountain fever. This is an infection borne by ticks, wood ticks which are sometimes carried by dogs and rats. It is by no means confined to the Rocky Mountains but has been found for years in the mountains of the east and even in the islands off the Atlantic Coast.

A POSSIBLE source of real danger to health is the tendency to take over old abandoned houses and use them for summer dwellings. It is not infrequently happens that these dwellings have harbored infectious diseases. Wall coverings are old and damp. Pipes are clogged and sanitary provisions of any kind in disrepair. None of these things may deter any one from a longed-for change of outlook and surroundings. The situation demands, however, considerable precaution. Houses can be aired and dried. Loose wall paper should be pulled down and burned, weeds cut and drains opened.

AN OPEN fireplace is a good thing and a smart place should be kept open until the air seems purified. Water and milk can always be boiled and cooled before using. Ask your local health authorities about using chlorine tablets for purifying water for drinking. Make inquiries in the neighborhood in which you wish to be a sojourner. When you have learned the health situation, prepare to take such precautions as are called for. Leave no food uncovered and use none that shows even a suspicion of taint.

MODES AND MANNERS.

QUESTION: "When may a man offer a woman his arm?" —L. T.

ANSWER: If she needs his support only, as in the case of an aged lady or an invalid, or if they are walking together in a poorly lighted street, or in the country or through a hall or in a crowded throng, or otherwise, the man should offer the woman his arm. But if they are walking on a well-lighted street, or in a crowded throng, or otherwise, the man should offer the woman his arm. But if they are walking on a well-lighted street, or in a crowded throng, or otherwise, the man should offer the woman his arm.

QUESTION: "When soup is served in a two-handled cup, should it be taken with a spoon or directly from the cup?" —J. J.

ANSWER: Bouillon, or any clear soup, is drunk like a beverage, directly from the cup. For other soups use a spoon.

DAINTY HANDS MADE FLEXIBLE WITH EXERCISE

By JACQUELINE HUNT

WHILE proper hand grooming is very important in determining the loveliness of your hands, flexibility and poise are also factors which should not be overlooked.

If your hands are graceful and have the grace of a ballerina, they are a spontaneous gesture that adds to your personality. They are putting you across.

Of course, there isn't much you can do to change the basic shape of your hands, but you can improve large knuckles, skinny fingers and stiff, awkward wrists by exercise and massage. You can make the texture of the skin fine and keep your nails beautifully manicured.

Exercise for the hands means greater flexibility and also an improved circulation, which in turn helps refine the texture of the skin and brings a clear, healthy color to both your hands and your face.

For this purpose, try these two simple exercises: Open your hands as wide as possible, stretching the fingers to their widest expanse. Try them, then, to touch your wrist with each finger one at a time—then stretch your thumb across your palm to the base of your little finger. Repeat several times until the fingers feel loosened.

Next, with your forefinger, try to bend back the fingers and thumb of the opposite hand as far as they will go. Do this several times each day and you will be surprised at the rapid improvement in color. These exercises also make the fingers more flexible and graceful.

Now your wrists. If they are stiff and unresponsive, the chances are that your face is set in drawn, tired lines that will not allow it to respond to your changing moods and emotions. Perhaps your wrists have grown stiff from too much work or from disuse, but more likely the stiffness is caused by nervousness and lack of poise. Make a practice of consciously relaxing your wrists. If you have a stiff, floppy movement of the hands until the muscles of the wrists become elastic and controlled.

ANSWER TO QUERY

"Dear Miss Hunt: I am glad to see that you answer questions for men occasionally. We have problems that are just as trying and as important to us as women have. I work in a garage and my hands are always oily and grimy. So I have to use gasoline for cleaning them before I go home at night. They have become rough and have deep cracks that sometimes bleed. Of course, I'm ashamed of my hands and broken black nails, but you can see that it isn't vanity alone that makes me ask your advice. Please help me." —Jim T.

ANSWER: Try to avoid getting gasoline on your hands for awhile. Before you start your grimy tasks in the morning, scrape your nails over a cake of soap to prevent the dirt and grease from getting under them. There are soaps that contain a gritty substance and a grease solvent that can be used instead of gasoline for removing grease, but while your hands are so sore and irritated you had better go in for gentler treatment.

When you stop for lunch and before going home at night, apply a generous amount of olive oil and wipe away as much grime as you can on soft, clean cloths, then scrub your hands gently with a soft brush and a freely lathering soap in warm water, if possible. Apply a carotene salve to heal the cracks and slip on a pair of clean cotton gloves. Repeat the scrubbing when you get home, file your nails, snip away any ragged bits of cuticle, and soak your hands for five minutes or more in olive oil that is as warm as you can stand it. This will help your hands absorb most of the oil has been absorbed, then wipe away the excess. Keep up this treatment and I think you can have comfortable, well-groomed hands in spite of your grimy job. Thanks for coming—we need more men in our column!

Stuffed Celery Is

A Delicious Dish

To make stuffed celery cream together three-fourths of a cup grated American cheese, one teaspoon mayonnaise, one-quarter teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and the same amount of salt. Add two tablespoons sweet relish, well drained. Use inner stalks of celery. Fill with cheese and relish mixture. Dust with paprika and chill. Stuffed celery may be used as an appetizer, or two stalks on an individual plate may be served as a salad course.

::: SPEAKING OF STYLE :::

Pearl gray silk with white coin spots makes the individual sports frock at left, with pointed sleeves, giving the wide shoulder silhouette; current red "shoe lace" tassel is worn at the white neckline; the hat is black straw.

The appearance of the full length coat is printed silk to match the dress. In this costume is worn a brown printed white coat, adapted for coat and dress, the latter trimmed with white organdie. The coat is made on simple bias lines of Vionnet suggestion, with three-quarter sleeves. The matching hat is of plain stitched tulle.

PIE DESSERTS EASILY MADE

By JUDITH WILSON

MEX has long considered the ability to bake good pies a feminine virtue that is all too rare. While many women hope to excel in this branch of cooking, they seem to have the idea that pie making is very difficult and to steer clear of it whenever possible. Perhaps it is because pie-making involves two distinct steps—first making the crust and second the filling. Neither are really difficult, however, once the tricks are learned.

To keep pace with the American taste for pie desserts, new kinds of fillings have been invented and the making of fillings has also been simplified. If you will only keep on hand a number of recipes for seasonal fillings, you can serve pies all the year round to the appreciation of your family and guests. Light fillings make pies and tarts excellent hot weather desserts.

German Peach Pie

The following recipes will give you some ideas. For German peach pie make a very rich, baking powder biscuit dough and roll it into a half inch sheet. Fit a long narrow pan. Brush the dough with melted butter, sprinkle it with sugar and cover it thickly with slices of peaches. The German way is to have the peaches overlap one another, curved sides up. Sprinkle with a little cinnamon and allspice, then thickly with sugar. Cover with another tin the same shape and size as the one in which the pie is baked, and put into a moderate oven for half an hour. The peaches should be well cooked but not broken.

Loganberry Pie

Loganberry pie is delicious enough for any feast. You will need one medium-sized baked pie shell to begin with. Mix together one-half cup powdered sugar, two well beaten eggs, a pinch of salt and one cup of scalded milk. Add two tablespoons butter, three crushed macaroons, one-half teaspoon lemon extract. Drain the juice from one can of loganberries and arrange the latter in the pie crust; add the first mixture and sprinkle the top with three more macaroons, dried and rolled fine. Bake in a moderate oven for about twenty-five minutes or until set. This may be topped with whipped cream or with a meringue if you wish.

Gelatin Pies

There is a whole new class of dessert pies made with gelatin-stiffened fillings. The secret of their success lies in having the filling and the baked pie shell very cold when they are put together and serving immediately after the gelatin has set. Try this for something different. Soften one tablespoon gelatin in one-fourth cup orange juice. Stir in three-fourths cup sugar, place in a double boiler and stir occasionally until thoroughly dissolved. Add one-half cup crushed pineapple, well drained, one cup of fresh strawberries, cut in quarters, one-fourth cup banana cubes, one-fourth cup orange cubes and one-fourth cup blanched, shredded almonds. When the mixture begins to thicken, pour into a shallow mold or into a pie pan. Stand in ice water until set. This is the best of things the summer set. It is a good thing to have in the house. It is a good thing to have in the house. It is a good thing to have in the house.

Plant Liners
Another summer fashion of the moment is the plant liner. It is a good thing to have in the house. It is a good thing to have in the house. It is a good thing to have in the house.

String Fashions
It's amazing what stunning things have been made of string this season. It's a good thing to have in the house. It is a good thing to have in the house. It is a good thing to have in the house.

New Ways of Using Finge
Both wide and narrow have made a hit this season. Women find fringe fascinating. It is a good thing to have in the house. It is a good thing to have in the house. It is a good thing to have in the house.

This especially attractive costume, with jacket out on tunic lines, is worn with a white net blouse. The hat worn with it was extremely interesting of black wire rough straw, with sash of wide satin ribbon in green, black, red and white striped crown, draped around the crown. The black patent leather sandals are stitched in white.

You and Your Child

PARENTS GUIDE CHILD'S HABITS

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

MANY children have the annoying habit of not answering when spoken to. Recently I heard a mother explain this tendency in her child as a hereditary trait.

It comes by, naturally. His father is like that. It is a form of absent-mindedness, I guess. Sometimes I have to repeat a question four times to get an answer.

Unless a child is hard of hearing, he should answer when addressed. A mother does not make life easier for a child by making excuses for his shortcomings. By taking the attitude that he cannot help it, she is encouraging him to continue to be impolite.

Be an Expert Yourself

The question of heredity is a moot one where children are concerned. To try to figure out what tendencies a child comes by naturally and which habits are acquired, makes for interest in speculation. But that is about all that can be said for the practice, as more harm than good can come of matching a child's traits with relatives' or ancestors' for resemblances.

After all, no one, not even the experts are in a position to know what a child's inner nature is through heredity. What they do know, however, is that it is so vast and deep and complex, that anything might be brought out. That is why they are never surprised at any unexpected turn of development, but interested rather in correcting the child if necessary.

Parents who take the trouble to study a child, to know what he thinks and how he reacts, may be said to take a scientific attitude toward child training. Like the expert, they will have discovered that he is suggestive, and will take advantage of the fact, encouraging the worthwhile habits only as far as they are able. Habit formation can be controlled to a large extent, no matter what a child's original endowment of tendencies. It is up to the parents.

Remedy Simple

When a child does not respond when called or spoken to, study will reveal that either he is imitating his elders or he prefers not to hear and is pretending that he has not heard, as often is the case if the child is pleasantly occupied at the time. To gain a child's attention, don't interrupt, or take him by surprise. Gain his attention first; then state the question or directions clearly, explaining the reason for the request.

PROFILES For Today

By TALBOT LAKE

Mr. Howe's Camp Kit Contract . . . Famous Presidential Secretaries

THE difficulty which Mr. Howe, Secretary to President Roosevelt, found himself in owing to his having procured the President's signature to an order for the purchase, outside of the official Army routine, of toilet kits for the President's men in the forestry camp, draws attention to the growth of the power of his office.

George Washington's secretary was Tobias Lear, who is chiefly remembered for his record of Washington's towering rage when he heard that General Sir. Clair had been ambushed and defeated in a campaign against the Indians in Ohio.

John Hay stands out as Lincoln's secretary, but this was due to his later career as Minister to England, and as the Secretary of State who inaugurated our vital interference in Asia. He was a mere boy in Lincoln's day.

Then came a long interval when the presidential secretaries were unknown, until President Cleveland appointed Daniel S. Lamont, a newspaper man of Albany, as his secretary. That began a new era in the White House's internal administration. It came to be recognized that the President's secretary was a personage, too successful was Mr. Lamont that at the end of Mr. Cleveland's first term he retired upon an important position in the business world, and in Mr. Cleveland's second term stepped forward into the Cabinet as Secretary of War.

President Cleveland, in his second term, sank back into the earlier practice and appointed an obscure lawyer from Detroit, named Thurber for secretary. It is interesting to note that Mr. Denby, the Secretary of the Navy who transferred the oil lands to Fall, who in turn transferred them to Sinclair and Doherty, was Thurber's son-in-law.

The next notable President's Secretary was Mr. McKimley. His secretary, John Addison Porter, a Hartford publisher, became ill, and Mr. McKimley turned temporarily to one of the White House stenographers, George Cortelyou, Mr. Cortelyou, to the President's intense satisfaction, soon proved that he was more than a stenographer, or even than any ordinary secretary. He was eventually, when the new Department of Commerce and Labor was created, transferred directly to cabinet rank as its head. He afterwards was Postmaster General and Chairman of the Republican National Committee, and ended his official career as Secretary of the Treasury, where he had to do with the panic of 1907. Since then he has been President of the Consolidated Gas Company of New York, the largest public utility corporation in the world.

PRESIDENT THEODORE ROOSEVELT

brought to the White House from the Albany Executive Mansion, William Loeb, later a high official of the Coughlin and corporations. Mr. Loeb, while being highly efficient, made the Secretary to the President of important political rank. It became recognized that his secretary always traveled with the President, and sat with him in his carriage on official occasions outside of Washington.

It was one of President Taft's many misfortunes that he had a succession of politically inept secretaries. One of them, a brilliant insurance man from Chicago, afterwards a high bank official in New York, announced after the President had won smashing victories in the Republican primaries in the West, that the President would now recognize them in patronage.

The secretary had never heard that the President is supposed to appoint officials solely upon their merit, and that political considerations are never admitted to exist at the White House.

When Woodrow Wilson became Governor of New Jersey he appointed a Jersey City Assemblyman, Joseph P. Tumulty, as his secretary in Trenton. When he was elected President in 1912, he transferred Mr. Tumulty to be his secretary at the White House, where he remained during the momentous next eight years. Opinions about Mr. Tumulty are divided. He was undoubtedly loyal, alert, skilled in ordinary political routine, but many think that as a participant in world-wide and world-shaking events, he was not adequate. When Mr. Wilson was in Paris, it almost seemed as if the presidential secretariat collapsed; and during Mr. Wilson's illness, Mr. Tumulty, who with Mr. Wilson had not heard of the White House affairs, was not very successful on the public side.

Mr. Hoover, like Mr. Taft, never seemed able to get a secretary the first time. But none of the Hoover secretaries ever exposed the President to unfavorable criticism.

PLAN VACATION ALL YOUR OWN THIS SUMMER

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

WHAT sort of vacation plans can be made to bring the greatest good to the greatest number? In a household where there are children, and the usual quota of parents, what is the best adjustment of the vacation scheme?

HOW can one generalize? Most everyone will agree that it is good for the average couple to be separated for a bit, once in a while. It is necessary, no matter how devoted parents may be to their offspring, it would be in the nature of a lark for them to go off somewhere without the children. It is necessary, of course, to be assured that they are in good hands, and as nearly out of harm's way as is possible for children ever to be.

A MOTHER who has the children around her, month in and month out, does not get the full benefit of a vacation when she has to go away taking them with her. She starts with a handicap from getting the caravan started, and comes in at the home stretch completely exhausted by the combined exertion of going places and seeing things with the children at her heels.

LEAVE the children with some capable person, nurse or relative. Go off on a jaunt, or a cruise, or to the Century of Progress, or wherever it is that calls, with your husband. Try to be as good a companion as you used to be before you had the children and the house and everything else to worry about. If you are anxious about the youngsters, keep it to yourself. Don't spoil his fun by complaining, or by dragging along your worries and anxieties. If you feel that this is too large an order for you to fill with satisfaction, stay home with the children and send your man away for a vacation. He can do so much for you to fill with satisfaction, stay home with the children and send your man away for a vacation. He can do so much for you to fill with satisfaction, stay home with the children and send your man away for a vacation.

He can put up a faint protest when you suggest fishing trip or whatever it is he wants to do, without you, but that may be just a little gallant gesture made in loyalty to you. Don't be a little fool and think that because he falls into a plan for a lone trip, that he does not love you any more. Men are restless creatures, and when the wanderlust hits them, the only thing a sensible woman can do is to pack a bag and leave a gay handkerchief as they speed away, a little shamefaced about it, but glad to be free.

THE couples who would never dream of being separated excepting from necessity, need no advice. They know where their happiness lies and only smile blandly on hearing such advice as is being handed out to them. They are in a quandary over their plans.

THE average young child is more comfortable and happy at home—that is, if his home offers him ample room to romp and play—than when he is traveling about even under the most advantageous circumstances. If a camp solves your problem, and it seems to solve the problem of many parents, there can be no possible criticism from the laws, your own family, or kind friends, for placing them in a good camp while you and husband go a-synopsis.

UPON emergency, one might hop a plane and get home from almost anywhere but over the ocean, but the broad Atlantic is not easily spanned, and therefore "abroad" does not seem tempting to parents unless the brood is to go along. Not many mothers can be dragged across the Atlantic while their children are left on this side.

TRAVEL is always fascinating and seldom as inexpensive as it is today. It seems a pity not to take advantage of the marvelous cruises and trips by land and sea, not to mention air, that are being offered.

THE idea of going away for the summer and staying put at some hotel or cottage, has nothing like the appeal to the moderns that it had to the prim generation. Perhaps the family motor is responsible for that, but whatever the cause, it's the chance to go to the greatest number of places in a given time that seems to make this most general appeal. And that's no sort of a vacation for the children, but a vacation for the man of yours for them or for yourself. His vacation need not necessarily be theirs.

Filmland Gagged By Walk Out

"It's like advertising for fifty Al Jolson," one of them said. Charges and countercharges flew as strike representatives and studio executives continued in a deadlock.

Wages too Low
Soundmen claimed they received an average of $30 to $40 a week for highly skilled and essential film work, and often labored late at night. They claimed $75 or more was their rightful scale, as this rate was originally given them.

Producers charged they were "put in the middle" by a controversy between the International Alliance of Theater Stage Employees and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. These two unions, it was alleged, were "fighting for jurisdiction" over sound men.

Wales to Face New Trial Soon

MARTINEZ, July 24.—The second trial of William J. "Kelly" Wales, Oakland sporting goods salesman, has been set for August 1 by Superior Judge Thomas D. Johnston. He is charged with grand theft and forgery of endorsement in the grand jury's investigation of activities in the school department during the regime of the late William H. Hanlon.

Richmond Will Offer Support To 'Nira' Plan

President Roosevelt's program of national recovery is to be aided by this city, according to word sent yesterday by P. M. Sanford, president of the Chamber of Commerce, to General Hugh S. Johnson, head of the recovery administration. Sanford's wire was as follows:

"The Richmond Chamber of Commerce is pleased to comply with your request and will give entire strength of our organization in carrying out your plan of organizing and educating the citizenship of our community to speed return of prosperity. We will await your detailed plans."

The wire was in response to one from Johnson in which he asked Richmond to fall in line with other cities throughout the country in directing a campaign to back up the President in his battle to restore American purchasing power and return business to normal.

It is understood that Sanford will name a city-wide committee to start at once on the task of building up public sentiment to support the blanket code plan of Roosevelt for the raising of wages in advance of the adoption of the individual codes.

Sanford will present the plan for discussion at this week's meeting of the Chamber directors on Wednesday.

Penalties on Delinquent Taxes Fixed By El Cerrito Councilmen

Peddlers Ordinance
On a motion of Councilman W. F. Huber the council instructed Chief of Police R. R. Cheek to see that the peddlers ordinance was enforced.

The action was taken by the council on a complaint made by the El Cerrito Business and Professional Men's Association that the ordinance was not being enforced and the merchants were being subjected to unfair competition.

Mayor J. R. Beck instructed Light Commissioner W. E. Huber to find out how much money the city could save by having its street lights turned out at one o'clock in the morning instead of allowing them to burn all night.

Beck said the city finances were running low and he was trying to find means for saving money.

Cow, Are O. K.
Councilman Phil A. Lee reported that he had investigated and found that D. Coupl, 1735 Curtis street, was only keeping two cows, which was allowed in the ordinance.

Mayor J. R. Beck said that had been informed the cows were not being properly staked out and were a nuisance and instructed Lee to have Coupl take better care of the animals.

Mary A. Machado Rites Arranged

Funeral services of the late Miss Mary A. Machado, 71, pioneer San Pablo resident, will be held from St. Paul's church at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The funeral cortege will leave the Ryan parlors at 9:30 a. m. and high requiem mass will be celebrated. Interment will be in Oakland.

Miss Machado passed away in Oakland Saturday evening after a long illness. She was born in San Pablo and lived her whole life in the same house. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Machado, also pioneers of the vicinity and among the first settlers here.

She leaves her sister, Hannah, and brother Frank. She was very active in St. Paul's church and in the Altar society. Rosary will be recited at the funeral chapel this evening at eight o'clock.

U.S. TO FIGHT KIDNAPERS AS GREAT MENACE

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The Federal government is going to go after kidnapers first and ask questions afterward.

Until this assertion came today from Joseph B. Keenan, assistant Attorney General heading the anti racketeer move, there had been some doubt.

Belief had been expressed that the Federal government would take no part in a kidnapping unless in some way or another it crossed State lines or violated specific Federal statutes.

But this was Keenan's answer today to a question about that: "We don't know whether a kidnapping case comes under Federal jurisdiction until we have found the man."

"We are going after them. We will find out after we have found our men, with the aid of State authorities, if it is a Federal or a State case."

Keenan was unwilling to say whether the forces under his direction had been, or would be, augmented.

Frequently in the last few days, Keenan has conferred with White House aides. That led to expressions, which he would not confirm, that when the time came, soon—President Roosevelt would be ready to put Federal forces at work pending changes in the law by the next session of Congress.

Legislation to make these changes is being drafted by Attorney General Cummings. It is known that the President is willing to spend the money necessary to wipe out kidnapping and racketeering.

El Cerrito to Build Culvert

A resolution empowering Mayor J. R. Beck and City Clerk Fred J. Prosser to enter into a contract with the East Bay Municipal Water District for the construction of a culvert on Fairmont avenue was passed by the council of El Cerrito at its meeting Monday night.

Under the provisions of the resolution the water district is to put up $4500 of the cost and property owners have placed money in escrow for any additional cost.

The work will be done under the supervision of city engineer H. D. Chapman without any cost to the city.

The culvert is to be constructed from the Santa Fe tracks westerly along Fairmont avenue for a distance of about eight hundred feet. Work on the project will be started this month.

New Leader Takes Charge of Lodge; Picks Committees

Raymond Berk, newly-seated noble grand of El Cerrito Odd Fellows lodge, presided for the first time last evening over the regular business meeting.

He appointed the following new committees: Financial, J. H. Paeth, Stanley Skow and Ed Johnston; social, R. W. Fidler, Wilbur Skow and W. T. Campbell; rooms, Earl Tandy; drill master, I. J. Nelson; clubroom, H. G. Johnson and J. B. Hunt.

W. F. Wilsch, Robert Doran, and S. P. Skow of the Contra Costa day committee reported on the discussion of plans for this event held recently in Martinez.

The setting for the occasion will be the Odd Fellows Recreation park on the Russian river and it will sage. The famous Amy remained in the cabin. Hawks, his tanned face beaming, alighted from his ship and hurried over to the Sikorsky.

It became apparent at once that neither Jim nor Amy was in competition to walk. Policemen carried Mollison from the plane. When Amy emerged, she was given a pack saddle escort.

Gets Bouquet
A woman broke through the police lines and thrust a bouquet of flowers into her hands.

Mrs. Mollison managed to walk to a waiting automobile but Jim had to be carried all the way, and they had some difficulty getting him into the tonneau. Both of them, however, maintained a sturdy optimism and seemed glad to get to New York.

Praised By Hawks

"I don't see how they could have gone wrong at Bridgeport," said Frank Hawks. "They've got stuff on the ball. Their flight from Wales to America was one of the neatest jobs I've ever seen pulled. The breaks were against them at the end, that's all."

Mollison had thirty stitches in his face as a consequence of last night's crash-land at Bridgeport, when his nerves shot, he brought the Sea-farer across the flying field and into the marsh, where the ship was wrecked virtually beyond repair.

Inquest Finds Exhaust Fumes Self-Inflicted

EUREKA, July 24.—UP—Asphyxiation by carbon monoxide poisoning, "self-administered" was the coroner's verdict late today in the death of Carroll S. Whitcomb, 69, former Los Angeles banker.

Whitcomb died Saturday at his Larabee valley home where he had lived for the past five years. His wife, noticing the motor of their automobile running, found him underneath the car.

Funeral services will be conducted at Fortuna tomorrow and the body will be sent to Los Angeles for interment.

In addition to his widow, Whitcomb is survived by three sons, Lambert S. Wilbur D., and Carroll C., and three daughters, Mrs. Arson H. Modges, Mrs. Ray S. Yost and Mrs. Arlene Benedict.

"THAT LITTLE GAME" Inter-nat'l Cartoon Co., N.Y.—By B. Link

YES, I MEAN IT, A FOUR-BIT LIMIT GAME WON'T COST YOU NO MORE THAN A DIME LIMIT ONE.

TELL YOU WHY, A BIRD'LL TAKE A LOTTA POOL CHANCES FOR A SMALL THIN DIME, BUT HE WON'T STAY ON LESS THAN A DECENT PAIR IN A FOUR-BIT GAME.

AND ITS USUALLY THE NUTS THAT WIN IN A DIME GAME. YOU PLAY POWER IN A FOUR-BIT SHINDIG.

HERES A FUNNY THING BUT ITS TRUE, YOU'LL FIND THE POOR, SMALL SALARIED GUYS PLAYIN' ONE AND TWO BUCK LIMIT AND THE WEALTHY CUCKOOS PLAYIN' "PENNY ANTE". FUNNY, AINT IT?

I CAN READILY UNDERSTAND THAT, A RICH GUY GETS JUST AS MUCH SATISFACTION OUT OF WINNING THIRTY CENTS AS HE WOULD OUT OF THIRTY DOLLARS, BUT WHAT'S THIRTY CENTS TO A POOR GOOF WHO'S ONLY WORTH FOURTEEN DOLLARS AND NINETY-NINE CENTS?

Quality Meats At Joe's Meat Market

Operating a modern Meat Market at 1160-23rd Street, here in Richmond is a firm that offers at all times a full line of fresh and cured meats at reasonable prices and exercising utmost care in sanitation. Retail selling. Under the direction of Joe Derk, Proprietor.

Joe's Meat Market has become a familiar name for many residents of Richmond who have learned that here is a place where quality and service go hand in hand at all times; for the preparation of meat this firm has built up an enviable record for cleanliness and sanitation. Insisting that everything about his place and market be in accordance with modern scientific ideas of refrigeration, he has thus assured his patrons that meats purchased are pure and wholesome in all respects.

Nor has he seen fit to take advantage of the general tendency to raise prices, needlessly, as have many dealers, but on the other hand he has been most moderate in his selling. With his buying power he is able to go into the best markets and demand the lowest prices, and he passes this saving on to his customers in the form of lower prices and still maintain standard quality.

By reason of his fair dealings with his customers his patronage has increased until today his shop is favorably known among thrifty housewives and shoppers.

Our readers cannot do better than inspect Joe's Meat Market for all lines of Fresh and Cured Meats, and we venture to say that better quality and lower prices cannot be found anywhere. Or if you wish just call Richmond 2327, give him your order and it will be waiting for you when you call.

Joe Derk is a local business man who has progressed with Richmond and his Meat Market will continue to prosper due to modern and advanced ideas concerning the service to the public.
